DRINK TAMPERING IS A CRIME. KNOW THE WARNING SIGNS.

Drink tampering can happen to anyone, in any type of beverage, and may place someone at risk of serious harm or sexual assault.

WARNING SIGNS:

- Sudden dizziness or confusion
- Unexpected or extreme intoxication
- Difficulty walking or speaking
- Nausea, drowsiness, or memory loss
- Loss of consciousness

IF YOU SUSPECT YOUR DRINK HAS BEEN TAMPERED WITH:

1. Stop drinking it immediately.
2. Tell a bartender, server, manager, or security employee.
3. Stay with someone you trust and move to a safe location.
4. Seek urgent medical help. Call 911 if you are experiencing concerning symptoms.
5. Preserve your drink, if safely possible, and consider reporting the incident to police.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR FRIENDS.

If someone suddenly appears unusually impaired, confused, or vulnerable, get help immediately.

Never assume they have simply consumed too much alcohol.

TO THOSE WHO WOULD TAMPER WITH SOMEONE'S DRINK:
This behaviour is criminal, dangerous, and unacceptable. Nova Scotia's hospitality community will not tolerate it.

EVERYONE DESERVES A SAFE NIGHT OUT.
